LINDSAY BENEFIT

RETURNS FROM ENTERTAINMENT PRESENTED TO RED CROSS

A pretty and very important ceremonial took place Saturday afternoon when the dancing class of Miss Edith Lindsay assembled at the K. of P. hall on Brand boulevard. A program was put on which included numbers that were given in the benefit performance at the Palace Grand April 22d, and then Miss Lindsay presented to the Glendale Red Cross Chapter a check for $130.90, the net proceeds of the entertainment. Mrs. Blackburn, the secretary, responded on behalf of the chapter with a few appropriate words of thanks and appreciation, and a flashlight picture was taken of the scene. It was a great day for the little pupils and their young instructor, all of whom had worked hard to earn the money, and the donation comes at a time when the needs of the Chapter make it doubly welcome.

RED CROSS NOTES

An abundant supply of gauze is now on hand for use of the Surgical Dressings Department of the Red Cross Chapter and as the need for dressings is very great, the department has adopted as a slogan, "Every worker bring a worker." It is important that every place at the tables should be filled every day in order that the Chapter may turn out the maximum product. The newspaper reports of the battle now raging should be sufficient advertisement of the need without argument on the part of Red Cross officials. Every woman who can spare even an hour's time should register for this work. The Chapter has a supply of coverall aprons for the use of new recruits in this department and the head-dress can also be secured there.

Newspapers are publishing reports to the effect that because of the lack of a sufficient number of wool socks for the soldiers, an effort is being made to toughen the feet of the Sammies so they can get along without them or with some substitute. This evidence of need should stimulate every knitter of socks to get busy. Our own boys have written that if the mothers and sisters at home had any conception of how much comfort is afforded by the soft padding of a wool sock on the tired feet of a fighting man, they would concentrate on this work and at least keep their own soldier friends supplied.

TELLS OF WAR

MISS SMALLPAGE GIVES TALK TO BRITISH AMBULANCE SOCIETY

One of the most stirring war talks was given by Miss Smallpage Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Kinnear, 1510 Stocker street. Miss Smallpage is an Australian and has been an ardent worker in all lines of war activities since the beginning of hostilities in 1914. She gave facts and figures from the moment that Belgium was invaded, the downfall of Russia through German propaganda, heroic fighting of British and French, the glorious victories that have crowned the allies' determined powers of resistance, the German advance, now a growing menace, until the cry came from across the seas to America, "Come to our help." The generous response to this call has called forth new courage and hope in the hearts of these veteran fighters. America's hand now stretched across to our allied armies must bring victory, for this is a righteous fight for freedom and right must win, she said.

Most delightful musical selections were rendered during the evening. Mrs. J. R. Wright gave a piano solo with most finished effect. Mrs. Colton sang in splendid voice and responded to an encore, singing "The Girl I Left Behind." The words were written by Mrs. Hughes and the music by Mrs. J. R. Wright. Mr. Clarke gave two numbers that were thoroughly enjoyed. Mrs. Edgar W. Pack was chairman of the meeting and added some personal glimpses of the great war as she saw it during her residence in England.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Kinnear and Mrs. Blakeney for donating their home for this splendid talk. A collection was taken for the wool fund of the British Ambulance Society, under whose auspices the lecture was given.

The national anthems were sung as a fitting close to an instructive evening. An informal reception was held where many were enabled to meet Miss Smallpage, whose personality is charming.

A WAR ISSUE

STYLUS TO FEATURE MEN IN SERVICE AND WAR ACTIVITIES OF UNION HIGH

The "Stylus" to be published this year by Union High will be quite different from its predecessors in that it will concentrate on the Great Conflict and be as far as possible a record of the war activities of the school and of former pupils who are now in service.

In carrying out this plan it is collecting photographs of the men for whom stars have been placed on the Service Flag of the school. It now has about fifty per cent of the needed pictures and is sending out an S.O.S. for the balance. Following is a list of the men whose pictures (preferably in uniform) are wanted:

SACRED CONCERT

Glendale is to have a real musical treat next Sunday evening when the choir of West Glendale Methodist church will render a sacred concert. This organization has been doing splendid work and this concert will be the first of a series under the direction of E. D. Baker.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were affiliated with Trinity Episcopal choir, the largest in San Francisco, for three years, after which they returned to their home church, California street Methodist, of the same city, where Mr. Baker served as musical director until they moved south five years ago. During the past three years they have been active members of the First Methodist Choir Association of Los Angeles. A few months ago they transferred to associate members in order that they might devote their entire time to the activities of their community church here.

The program Sunday evening will include:

"I Am Alpha and Omega"—Sir John Stainer.
"God So Loved the World," from the "Crucifixion"—Sir John Stainer.
"O. Holy Father," Duet (by request)—W. Vincent Wallace.
By Mr. and Mrs. Baker.
"Hark, Hark, My Soul"—Harry Rowe Shelley.
"We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall"—M. F. Kelly.
Rev. E. M. Crandall, Pastor.

AMERICANS IN HEART OF BATTLE

U. S. TROOPS FORMALLY TAKE OVER SECTOR FROM FRENCH IN NORTHERN PART OF FRANCE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

(By Fred S. Ferguson, American Press Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, April 29.—The American forces are now fighting beside the French in northern France, and are holding a sector in the heart of the world's greatest battle.

Infantry, artillery, machine gunners and all other branches of the service are in the battle line.

The Americans are facing the Germans at the peak of an important German salient.

The outposts are only 200 yards apart in some places, and at others American positions are maintained in precarious shell holes.

As soon as all the troops were in position the sector was taken over formally from the French.

The firing in this particular zone is described as more intense than any yet experienced by the Americans.

ATTACK ENTIRE FLANDERS FRONT

AFTER LULL OF TWENTY-FOUR HOURS ENEMY BEGINS ANOTHER GIGANTIC THRUST FOR OBJECTIVES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, April 29.—The Germans are striking on the entire Flanders front today, General Haig reported officially.

Between Metgren and Voormezeele, a distance of ten miles, infantry attacks are developing under cover of terrific bombing of high explosive and gas shells.

The southern part of the Flanders theatre from Givenchy to Nieppe forest, a ten-mile front, also is under heavy artillery fire.

At the same time the enemy is shelling the British lines on a ten-mile front between Lens and Arras. This front constitutes half of the sector separating the Flanders and the Picardy battle lines.

After a lull of twenty-four hours it is apparent that Field Marshal von Hindenburg is beginning another gigantic thrust toward Ypres and other important objectives in Flanders and Picardy.

The British are still holding Voormezeele, two miles south of Ypres, while the French are gallantly defending Locre.

OFFICIALS DISAPPOINTED IN BOND SALES

SEVEN HUNDRED SIXTY MILLIONS MUST BE SUBSCRIBED BEFORE MINIMUM QUOTA IS REACHED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—America must pass $760,000,000 over the Liberty Loan counter in the next six days in order to reach the $3,000,000,000 minimum.

As the final results of Liberty Day were reported it was indicated that officials were keenly disappointed at the showing.

Only 9,500,000 subscribers are reported out of a desired 15,000,000.

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS SAVED

New York, April 29.—Y. M. C. A. officials here today made public the names of fifty-eight war workers who were aboard a steamer reported lost in the submarine zone yesterday.

Arthur Hungerford, an American newspaper man, was in charge of the party, which was en route to the front for army work.

All were saved, according to the Y. M. C. A. here.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

PEOPLE SHOULD WAKE UP ON TELEPHONE TOLL AND RAILROAD FARE MATTERS

A Glendale citizen who is an owner of real estate and who is quite a heavy taxpayer said to a representative of the Glendale Evening News a few days ago that there are two questions that should receive the enthusiastic attention of every citizen of Glendale.

One of these questions is the charge of the ten-cent telephone toll between Glendale and Los Angeles, which has been proposed by the telephone companies and seems to be receiving the approval of the Railroad Commission. Under present conditions it will be a persecution upon the people of Glendale to impose any such a toll, and it stands them in hand to unite and oppose it and have the question settled justly in the interests of the people instead of in the interests of the telephone companies so long as it would seem that they are prospering financially. This gentleman said that it was not very many years ago that the telephone companies were very anxious to have an opportunity to build lines into Glendale and establish a telephone exchange and at that time great inducements were offered, low rentals were arranged for and free service was promised. All goes to indicate that the company has made money on their investment as far as the Glendale exchange is concerned. Extensions have been built to their lines and other improvements have been made. At the present time a large and expensive building is about to be completed, in which the exchange will be located.

Now why, when everything is running along smoothly and the company is prospering, impose this toll of ten cents per message on the patrons? The Evening News believes as stated a few days ago that the only fair way to settle this question is to charge the people of Glendale the same rental for telephones as is paid by patrons in Los Angeles. And in so doing the people of Glendale would of course get free service and be treated in all particulars just the same as the patrons residing in the city of Los Angeles. The gentleman who was discussing the question thinks it is time for the people of this community to wake up and look after their own interests as concerning the proposed charge of a ten-cent telephone toll.

The other question to which the gentleman referred as needing to be settled is the one of railroad fare between here and Los Angeles. He said it is entirely out of place to charge twenty-five cents for a round trip or fifteen cents for one way. He feels quite sure that the railroad company should be able to reduce the fare without any financial loss. In making a reduction of fare there will be a great gain for Glendale for now there are many people who will not come here to live just on account of the high railroad fare. He says from time to time this question has come up and some consideration given it, but at the time one set of men become very much interested in having it settled the others are indifferent and do nothing to aid in securing a lower fare. What is needed is for the people to pull together on this question and give the railroad company to understand that they have decided it is for the interest of Glendale and will work no hardship upon the Pacific Electric company to have a reduced railroad fare and that it must be given them. If the effort is a united one the reduction will come. But if the people will not act together there will be nothing accomplished.

It was also stated by this gentleman that it would be greatly for the good of Glendale if people would work more in harmony on all questions and take a greater interest in civic affairs. He said that in the rush of business and the excitement of the many things that are going on in the world we forget that we are responsible for having civic questions settled right and we should see to it that everything possible is done to further the prosperity of the community in which we live. This gentleman also said that while he does not attend the meetings of the Board of Trustees of the city of Glendale, he reads the proceedings of the meetings and he is very much interested in the action the Board takes on the various questions that come before them. He thinks the Board of Trustees should be encouraged in all honest efforts to do that which will be to the best interests of the city, and feels sure that suggestions made by any of the citizens will be kindly received by the Board and acted upon in the right way.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Tuesday. Westerly winds.

GO TO WASHINGTON

MR. AND MRS. BEDDOE TO TAKE UP FIELD WORK IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Beddoe, who spent their honeymoon in San Francisco while the big International Adventist Conference was in session, have returned to Glendale and are now busy arranging to leave for their new field in Washington, D. C., which they expect to enter June first. They have worked side by side in the office of the Union Conference in this city for more than a year and during that time their working comradeship developed into a sentiment so much warmer that on March 21st Miss Lou Ellen Watts became Mrs. Beddoe and together they made the trip to San Francisco, as stated.

Mr. Beddoe has been appointed Field Secretary of the Sabbath School Department of the General Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, a position which requires him to travel to all parts of the world, though his headquarters will be in Washington City, where Mrs. Beddoe will be in charge in his absence. The Sabbath School work of the denomination comprehends the entire church, the membership in the schools exceeding the church membership by about 20 per cent. The world over, there are some 7000 Adventist Sabbath Schools with a membership exceeding 160,000. Wherever a group of people of this faith is found, there a Sabbath School is established, and it will be the mission of Mr. Beddoe to visit these schools, confer with teachers and secretaries and plan the course for the coming season. Lesson series for five grades are published, not only in English but in scores of languages, which are prepared by specialists in different parts of the world, who translate them into the languages and dialects of China, India, Korea, Japan, and Australia. The convention arranged for a very large extension of this missionary work and about $250,000 in cash was raised for the purpose over and above the regular budget for schools and missions already established. Practically every request made by the men representing the work in the Orient and South America was granted. For example, arrangements were made to send fifteen families to India and to build an American home for each family. About $100,000 was provided for extension work in China and $40,000 for South American extensions.

Mr. Beddoe has been carrying on two departments of work which will now be separated. J. A. Stevens, formerly president of the Northwestern California Conference, will take the secretaryship of what is known as The Layman Missionary Movement in this Conference and will also have charge of work in connection with Camp Pastorates in the various army posts in the Western States. The balance of the work Mr. Beddoe has been conducting will be handled by M. N. Helligso, of Nebraska, who will be known as Missionary Volunteer Secretary and whose work will be wholly among the young people of the Union Conference.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

At a very enthusiastic meeting Friday evening, a new troop of Boy Scouts was organized at West Glendale Methodist church. Scout Commissioner Miller of Los Angeles called the boys together and gave a short address portraying the principles of the Boy Scouts of America. Fifteen boys joined the troop and the membership was closed for thirty days in order that these boys may learn the duties of a Tenderfoot Scout. Later the boys will reopen for new recruits and these boys will assist the recruits in their work. The troop will be in charge of D. W. Henke and E. D. Baker, who are attending the special school for Scoutmasters. The troop will soon be divided into two troops so as to accommodate more boys, 32 boys being the maximum for each troop. The following are the names of the charter members:

Wm. Kelly, 1450 W. 7th St.
Robt. W. Copeland, 1610 W. Colo.
Geo. S. Russ, 1232 Burchett.

ASKING QUESTIONS

It is a very easy matter to ask questions. But it is often more difficult to answer them. Not long since the writer was present at a meeting of a body of men when one of the men present asked hundreds of questions, and when he in turn was asked to answer them he was of course unable to do so. Many times there is much to be gained by the asking of questions, but when a man shows himself to be too much of a Missourian he becomes obnoxious, and much time is spent without accomplishing any end. A few hours of personal investigation will answer many questions satisfactorily for one's self, and then one will be in a position to take up propositions of major importance instead of devoting hours and hours of time to little things that everybody who takes an active interest in what is going on around him is supposed to know. The schoolboy who enters the class without having studied his lesson and then can work the teacher by asking questions and taking up the recitation period instead of the teacher finding out that this boy has not studied his lesson is after all a very clever boy. But what becomes of the time that other members of the class have spent without having a chance to recite their lessons? If such a practice goes on in a class, pretty soon the boys and girls who have been studying their lessons diligently before coming to class will learn that it is not esential for them to study so far as being required to recite in class is concerned, so they become careless and indifferent, and as days go past they become lax and backward in the studies they are pursuing and the term of school will be a loss of time to them.

Questions properly asked will stimulate an interest in many meetings, but when it comes to asking the little simple questions that everybody who is at all interested in the proposition in hand should know about, then there should be a power somewhere to veto such action. When men are assembled for the purpose of transacting business, it should be the aim to transact the greatest amount of business of the greatest importance in the least length of time possible. In this way there is a conservation of time and of course everything is worked on the conservation plan at present.

SCHOOL ENTHUSIASM

The Evening News wishes to take the opportunity to say a few words in favor of the school enthusiasm that was demonstrated at the contest last Friday evening. It was gratifying to the writer to see the boys and girls participating in the contest have so much enjoyment. The rivalry between the different classes and individuals was of a very pleasant nature and was the cause of many a hearty laugh and many a smile which will add to the health and happiness of those who participated in the exercises.

Boys and girls have a sufficient number of gloomy days in school that it is not at all out of place for a day to be set apart when school can join together and have a rousing good time.

The writer well remembers that when he attended an occasion like this in Glendale Union high school five years ago that there appeared at that time many boys who gave class yells in thunderous tones and who laughed merrily, and now these same boys are dressed in khaki uniforms and are doing service for their country.

Let us all agree that while it is a good thing for boys and girls to work diligently during the regular school hours that it is also good for them occasionally to have a few hours of enjoyment, especially when such enjoyment is in the way of good-natured rivalry as was the case last Friday evening.

Long, long will Friday evening be remembered by those who participated in the various contests. Who is there of the older ones who does not look back to his school days as being the bright days of his life time? An education does not consist entirely of book knowledge, it consists largely of learning the ways of the people of the world, learning how to meet them and how to treat them.

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

The Thirty-third annual convention of the Los Angeles County Sunday School Association will be held in the First Baptist church of Pomona, Thursday and Friday, May 16th and 17th. All plans are now complete. On account of war conditions, no money will be spent for speakers coming from distant parts of the country. Many expert denominational leaders live in the southern part of the state and these will be utilized.

Notable among the speakers will be W. F. Richardson, D. D., pastor of the Hollywood Christian church, on Thursday afternoon. His address will be on "Personality as a Teacher." The same evening W. W. Casselberry, D. D., of the West Adams Street Presbyterian church and Dr. John Snape of the Hollywood Baptist church will divide the time on Sunday School problems. Dr. Byron W. Wilson, Professor A. A. Macurda, Rev. F. G. H. Stevens, Dr. W. A. Phillips, Miss Marie Brehm, Rev. C. A. Cole, Mrs. W. A. Rider, Rev. D. Carl Williams, Dr J. H. Deere of Pomona, Dr. F. O. Beldin of San Diego, Rev. Edgar Lloyd Smith, Miss Alice Jacobs, and many others will be heard on various topics.

Each morning from 9:00 to 11:15, five consecutive conferences will be held. The Elementary Division will be in charge of Mrs. Gentry, well known in the Los Angeles Graded Union. She will discuss problems of those whose ages range from one to twelve years. Miss Inga Petterson will preside over the Secondary Division, ages twelve to twenty-four. The Adult Division, including Adult classes, Parents and Home departments will be cared for by Rev. J. W. Long, County Adult Superintendent. Rev. F. G. H. Stevens will conduct the Administrative Divisions, relating to problems of pastors, superintendents and officers of the school. The Educational Division, comprising Missions, Temperance and Teacher Training, will be in charge of Rev. C. A. Cole of the Glendale Christian church, who is also County Superintendent. Miss Marie Brehm, well knows as a temperance speaker, will also be heard.

Following these conferences at 11:30 to 12:15 in the First Baptist church will be special Bible study hours. Dr. Hugh K. Walker, the popular pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at these sessions.

Music will be one of the leading features and will be under the direction of Prof. J. B. Trowbridge of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, this being the third season he has acted in this capacity. A pre-Convention event will be the Second Annual May Festival Concert in the Bible Institute in the city on Tuesday, May 14th. There will be a chorus of five hundred voices under Prof. Trowbridge and an orchestra of fifty pieces under Prof. A. M. Perry of the U. S. C. College of Music. Prof. Bertram, a new French tenor, and a Male Glee Club will complete the program. All registered delegates will be given seats in a reserved section.

Twenty-five cents will be charged as a registration fee, which will help pay expenses. This is the same amount charged last year.

All delegates desiring entertainment will be cared for on the Harvard plan—lodging and breakfast free. Two luncheons and two banquets will be the main social events. The Elementary and Secondary workers' luncheons will be held Thursday and Friday evenings respectively. Friday evening at another place the County and District officers will hold their banquet.

LEADS IN IRRIGATION

Irrigation has made greater and more satisfactory progress in California than anywhere else in the world, according to Samuel Fortier, head of the western division irrigation commission, Department of the Interior. Mr. Fortier formerly had headquarters at Washington but the government has moved his office to Berkeley in order that he may be nearer the irrigation districts.

"There are 3,500,000 acres of land in California dependent on irrigation for the raising of crops," Mr. Fortier said. "The irrigation commission desires that this amount be raised to at least 10,000,000 acres, and steps are now under way to do so.

"Engineers have shown that by the investment of $1,000,000 at Hanlon's Heading the Colorado river can be diverted and 18,000 acres of land in the Imperial Valley be saved from having a foot of silt deposited on it every year. Work is now under way, and I predict a large amount of land reclaimed by the erection of the necessary machinery at the intake there.

"Irrigation also is having a good effect in Arizona. In the Salt River Valley they have been able by irrigation to raise Egyptian long-staple cotton, and the farmers are now making $200 an acre out of this product."

EVERY LITTLE

Some of us are inclined perhaps to think, "What little I can do does not matter." Let us stop and think again. If it were possible for every pupil in the United States to save 5 cents a day, how much would be saved in a month? Thirty million dollars! In a year we would have twelve times that sum, or as much as it cost Uncle Sam to run the government twenty-five years ago. We should save a little every day if possible, in whatever ways we can. Instead of buying a piece of candy or a package of chewing gum, we can save that money toward a thrift stamp. One boy or girl working alone can not save very much, but if twenty million others are doing the same thing, it means that the school children of America are becoming capitalists, and capitalists in the best cause possible—helping to fight for their country.—R. L. Ashley.

The net shortage of freight cars on March 1st, according to reports filed by the American Railway Association, amounted to 138,102 as compared with 98,044 on February 1st and 89,995 on January 1st. It therefore appears that the car shortage is on the increase, and it behooves all shippers to carefully inspect their loading records to be sure that they are releasing cars as quickly as possible and that they are loading them to full weight capacity.

Ten million dollars has been voted by congress for the relief of the housing situation in the District of Columbia and Otto Eidlitz, director of housing for the Department of Labor, is working out details of the building program which will be carried out under it.

BOOK OF JOB

DR. J. W. MARSH REVIEWS THIS WONDERFUL LITERARY MASTERPIECE

At the Congregational church on Sunday morning Dr. Marsh spoke on the Book of Job to a congregation that filled the church. Some of his remarks on the integrity and high moral purposes of the lives of some of our prominent citizens evoked a spontaneous applause from his hearers which is very unusual in a church service.

The book of Job is a masterpiece of dramatic literature. By some it has been called the Shakespeare of Antiquity, a remark that is flattering to Shakespeare.

Like all the great literary masterpieces it has a lofty plan and a high moral purpose. It teaches a universal truth. It appeals to the universal religious experience of every human being. It treats of sin and evil, of tragedy and of the divine.

The writer's purpose in giving to the world this drama can only be guessed at, but in three points at least its teaching is unmistakable.

First, it is God's refutation of the almost universal lie that human integrity is the exception in our social life. Men today, as through all history, do follow high and noble ideals, even when in doing so they must fight against circumstances and desires. Man's integrity in our present day life is the rule and dishonesty and non-integrity the rarer exception.

The second point in the teaching of Job's history is a vivid denial of the lie that "every man has his price." While there are hypocrites in the world, it is not true that most business men join the church to gain trade. It is not true that most politicians advocate a reform movement to gain votes. It is not true that our preachers go where the salary is largest. The leaders of our national thought in the present crisis are men whose activitites are prompted by no thought of personal or material gain but are following out the expression of their noblest inspirations. Like Job most men are not conquered by their circumstances but are true to themselves and their fellows in spite of them.

The third lesson is a refutation of the lie that because we live in a world governed by law we are dependent solely upon that law. That it is useless to ask of God for help because He will not and could not if He would. Job's declaration, "Though he slay me yet will I trust Him," has echoed from hearts down the ages until today we know that above and beyond our efforts there is a Divine Providence as well as a divine justice.

The French soldier is today the finest soldier in the world because when he gives himself as a soldier to France he literally counts himself already dead, and he goes forth in the supreme faith that having given his life to France, somehow, somewhere, he will get the just reward of his sacrifice.

Some it is true go out in darkness, but we know that death is not the end and that all men will ultimately know the healing truth and justice of God's providence.

CALIFORNIA CONGRESS OF MOTHERS

(Contributed)

The seventh annual District Convention of the First District California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, which convened at the Fraternal Brotherhood Hall, Los Angeles, on April 25 and 26, was the biggest and best in its history.

All sessions were well attended, and it was estimated that 700 were in attendance at one time. The business was handled quickly and efficiently. The following officers were elected to office for two years:

President, Mrs. C. S. Thompson, Bellflower.

Second Vice-President, Mrs. Robert Fleming, Monrovia.

Fourth Vice-President, Mrs. C. E. Hutchison, Glendale.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. J. D. Littlejohn, Los Angeles.

Treasurer, Mrs. Allen Durant, San Gabriel.

Historian, Mrs. E. H. Noe, Los Angeles.

Parliamentarian, Mrs. W. A. Galentine, Redondo.

The entertainment on Thursday evening was of special note, the Pasadena Federation being hostess to the officers and delegates of the Convention. The following prominent P.-T. A. women gave greetings: Mrs. E. S. Janes, President of Pasadena Federation; Dr. Jessie A. Russell, State President; Mrs. Chalmers Smith, Past State President; Mrs. A. L. Hamilton, Past State and District President; Mrs. C. H. Richie, Past District President. Mrs. W. A. Galentine, President of the District, made response in her own delightful way. Miss Ruth Richie played a violin solo and Miss Fern Roberts gave readings, and a quartet of ladies sang a selection "Our P.-T. A." The program closed with short talks by A. L. Hamilton and Prof. Rhodes, Superintendent of Pasadena schools.

The program for the two days was interesting, instructive and varied. It would be impossible to make comment on each address as there were so many and each so splendid in its particular way.

This is history—have a share in it.

SPIRITUAL GIFTS

In speaking on the subject of Clairvoyance at the Occult Science of Christ church Sunday evening, Rev. A. William Goetz said in part:

Text: I Corinthians 12:4,5. "There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administration, but the same Lord."

Clairvoyance or the clear understanding and the clear insight of your own or another's life is one of the gifts of the spirit. The real self of each individual is the spirit and when you see the body you do not see the person but the material manifestation of that individual spirit's life. Mediumship is not the especial gift of any one person but the common gift or talent of each one. Mediumship means mastership and every person is a medium to a certain degree. Mediumship is the power of the spirit to manifest on the earth vibration of life in a physical body, be that your own spirit or the spirit of another inividual expression. The greater the manifestation of Spirituality through the physical body the greater the mediumship or mastership of life's problems. Clairvoyance is one of these spiritual powers.

The eye is not the physical organ of sight. The mind is the real organ of sight. The mind controls the brain which in its turn reflects the vision that the lense or eye vibrates to. If the mind is not turned toward what the eye reflects there is no physical sight. Therefore when the eye sees people or objects, if the mind or real organ of sight is on some problem or distant locality, what the eye sees the person does not see and in that way we often pass people on the street and we say, "Why you ought to have seen me. You were looking right at me." The eye might have looked right at you but as the eye is not the real organ of sight and the mind is, and that mind was somewhere else, the sight was lost.

When we learn to use this mind to our advantage by using the will power and concentration which we have lying dormant within ourselves we will manifest our spiritual faculties. We all expect to see when passing into the Spirit world of the hereafter. Why not use this faculty now as we must learn to use it some time If we do not learn to exercise that power here we will have to learn to use it hereafter and that takes time; the time that we are wasting now.

Let us not be as those "That have eyes that see not and ears that hear not," but let us learn to use the gifts and faculties that are talents and our spiritual inheritance from God. But let us not forget that when seeing others in the Spirit world or even in manifesting our own spiritual lives let us test them and see if they are from God. There are ways that each and every one can do all of this.

Spiritual gifts or faculties are talents and let us remember the parable of the Christ when He spoke of the ten talents. Do not bury your own in the mire of lack of attention and fear but let us express these talents and in the expression, like all things else, practice increases the power and we find that our talents have increased tenfold and the Lord of all will say, "Well done, conscious Mind, thou good and faithful servant of the Spirit within."

Give thanks to the Creator of all for these wonderful gifts of all and that they are the Spiritual faculties of not a few but of each and everyone.

CERRITOS SCHOOL NEWS

The Cerritos school is drilling and polishing its baseball nine in preparation for a game with the Intermediate school team, and it will probably be some contest. The exact date of the engagement has not been set, but it will come off this week.

Work is just beginning on the preparations for the Tropico Carnival, in which the school children always take a leading part. It will take place May 18th and the proceeds will be donated to the Red Cross.

The latter part of the week (the date has not yet been fixed with certainty) a Red Star benefit performance will be given at the Cerritos school by the Wallace School of Dramatic Art in Los Angeles.

After due deliberation a decision has been reached to have no school exhibit this year in the Cerritos school. This course has been adopted as a matter of conservation of time, effort and material. Instead, the pupils will concentrate on Red Cross and Red Star work. A request from the Los Angeles Chapter that Red Cross work be continued in the school this summer will be taken up at a meeting of teachers today. The need is urgent and some arrangement will probably be made to keep pupils together in the work after the regular school sessions close.

Some work is being done in school gardens but nothing sensational. The school lacks needed tools and hose for extensive agricultural work and soil conditions are not of the best at the Cerritos campus. Under the circumstances it has been thought best to encourage pupils to concentrate on their gardens at home, and a canvass of their work there shows values running into hundreds of dollars. Some gardening is being done, however, on the school grounds in connection with the lessons in agriculture, which are part of the school curriculum.

If you have the necessities of life you can afford one.

GOOD FOR EAGLE ROCK

Eagle Rock has gone "over the top," and then some!

Such is the welcome information that we are glad to be able to give out in connection with the Third Liberty Loan drive started in this city on April 6.

We have not only gone "over the top," but have come back and gone over again.

In other words, Eagle Rock's quota was $10,400, and our citizens have purchased $21,800 of the Third Liberty Bond issue through the home bank, and more returns are to come in.

The loyalty of our people has been shown in two ways. First, in the hearty response to the call of the government, and second, to the request to buy bonds at home.—Eagle Rock Sentinel.

The cities of San Jacinto and Hemet which suffered severely from the earthquake of April 21, have decided to profit by their experience and all business buildings will be rebuilt in a most substantial manner. Many of the masonry buildings in both cities were badly damaged or demolished.

Geo. B. De Sellem was in Tujunga on Tuesday inspecting the various colonies of bees. Some foul brood has been reported, and measures must be taken to eradicate it at once. The honey in this section is of especially fine flavor, and the present scarcity of sugar and high price of honey all tend to a greater production.

At the regular meeting of the Bee Club held on Monday, April 22, it was decided to purchase an extractor to be used by the club and rented to others who might need one later.

The Red Cross sewing bee on Thursday was well attended and many garments were finished. Miss Benedict went in to Pasadena on Wednesday to bring out more work and return the knitting to the Army and Navy League. There were six sweaters, seven pairs hose, four trench caps, two helmets, one scarf and two pairs wristlets. Don't forget the Red Cross can use you every Friday, as there is plenty of wark for all who may come.

Mr. Batchelder of Sunset boulevard is enjoying his vacation by active work on the place he has just purchased, and bids fair to have a nifty little place if his plans can be carried out.

Mr. and Mrs. Parcher are preparing to move to the Paul place which they purchased some time ago, and rent their home on San Ysidro road.

Mr. Wright, the mail carrier, had the misfortune to lose one of his small goats the night of the high wind. He had tethered it to a tree and in some way the wind swept a branch under the rope and lifted it high into the air, where Mr. Wright found it the next morning.

Are you planting sugar beet seed for the purpose of making your sirup for the next winter? The method of making is very simple, and it is said the results are very pleasing. A bulletin describing the method of planting the seed and caring for the crop, as well as making the sirup, is being sent out from the Agricultural College at Berkeley. They are free for the asking.

The Rev. Mr. Rennison will lecture in the Glorietta Heights school house on Thursday evening, May 2d, at 7:30. All are invited to attend. Subject, "The Signs of the Times."

LA CRESCENTA

That Red Cross Vaudeville Show has come and gone and the treasury is the richer by $108.13 that will be spent for wool and other material. We had a good time, a good program and good results. A special vote of thanks is due Mrs. Cobb for her untiring efforts in the face of many difficulties and disappointments. The talent from Pasadena who so kindly gave their services, Mrs. June Terry Pickrell, Marguerite Hauber and Lucile Levy from Los Angeles, Naomi Taylor and Mr. Henry of Glendale and our own Ethel Lewenstein, Grant Leenhouts, Deen Culberson and Horace Dey Schultz, made up an excellent program.

Are you registered? If not since January, 1918 get busy. This is important. See Mr. Pinkus on Michigan avenue.

Father Quetu has erected a chapel on the old Scott place on Michigan avenue and mass is read every Sunday at 9 a. m. An invitation is extended to all of the faith to attend.

The Junior Red Cross are working hard over their entertainment and the date will be announced in the near future. A splendid time is promised and the little people are doing wonders.

The old school house has been sold and will be wrecked and taken away very soon. Mr. Whiting of the Whiting-Mead Co. bid it in.

A number of the Red Cross members went over to Pasadena headquarters and learned how to make pneumonia jackets on Wednesday.

The Library has been moved to the end of the carline. Dr. Weber has very kindly donated one of his stores for this purpose. Mrs. Miller will be glad to see all of the readers Tuesday and Friday from 3 to 5 and Saturday from 7 to 9. She will also be glad to welcome those books for the soldiers. Wake up, send a book to the boys. You know you have some on your shelves you do not want. Go look them up. Do it now and bring them to Mrs. Miller tonight.

The Binford place has been sold and Fred Good, who has been the tenant there, has bought the Green place on Prospect avenue. Business is booming in Crescenta.

Put the pennies to work—buy Thrift Stamps. Every little two bits helps.

Don't forget the Red Cross classes Tuesdays and Thursdays. Plenty of room, plenty of material, plenty of workers needed to fill our quota of supplies. Come out and lend a hand.

They get $30 a month and give their lives as well.

CONSERVING WOOL

The shortage of cotton and wool makes it imperative that great effort be made immediately to reduce our present consumption in order to avoid actual famine in these materials which would result in great suffering, especially in the colder portions of the country. Because of their comparative cheapness we have been accustomed to use cotton and wool carelessly. There are more than a million and a half high school students in the United States, who, because of their growth and activity, require a supply of clothing material greater than that required by a similar number of adults. Organized effort on the part of high school students toward reducing the use of the present wool and cotton supply would result in a large saving of these fabrics. This is one of the high school student's best opportunities to "do his bit" for his country. Some effort has already been made. Girls in sewing classes have agreed to buy no new material for class work where suitable old material could be remade. Boys have been ready to adopt the wearing of corduroy trousers to save wool. But more definite and more earnest efforts must be made.

The first important step is to make this year's supply of clothing, so far as possible, from old material, thus making a smaller demand on the supply of wool and cotton for 1918.

Clubs should be organized pledged to this patriotic duty. The remaking of old garments requires more forethought, knowledge, and skill than making garments from new material. Domestic art teachers and advanced domestic art students can arrange to give assistance at specified hours to those who are planning to remake old material. Valuable suggestions have been offered for using worn material to be used by these groups of students. As many girls as possible should plan to serve as leaders in clothing conservation. They can prepare for the work through the courses in sewing and textiles offered in the high schools.

Changing style in clothing is the chief cause of waste in clothing material. During the war, at least, the United States should greatly reduce this waste. High school students can help win the war by agreeing not to discard perfectly good garments in order to make use of new styles. Furthermore, if, after utilizing old material as far as possible, high school students should adopt a simple style of clothing to be in vogue as long as the war lasts, they will help to conserve our textile supplies still more.

WELCOME TO MAY

A May Day Idyl
(By Samuel Parker)

"May comes laughing o'er the plain."

Gladly we hail thee, queen of the year.
Bring to our lives thy light and cheer.
Roll from face of meadow and hill
All traces of winter's dullness and chill.
Tell the dwellers of upland and plain
The glad summer time is here again.
Come and as you gladly pass along
Bid animate nature break into song,
While a bright crown rests on thy brow, oh May,
Like the smile on the maid's face over the way.

House cleaning comes with the first of May,
And the maiden is at it over the way.
That headcloth may keep some dust out of her hair,
But it does not hide a face most fair.
The carpets and rugs are lined up in the yard,
And the Dago is beating them awfully hard.
His brawny arm with vigor will play
While watched by the maiden over the way.

And that maid o'er the way, as the hours glide along,
Shortens the task by singing a song.
She could not know that the song was one
My mother sang in years loang agone,
Away back yonder in Illinois,
On that frontier farm when I was a boy.
I wonder today how mother could keep
Sweet-tempered, working that old-time sweep.

Always in farm life in frontier cot
Where there's dirt or dust it's the woman's lot
To wash and dust and sweep and scrub,
Spending her life 'tween kitchen and tub.
How the loose soil on upland and moor
Seemed bent on entering the cottage door.
What came not thus came from the street,
Lugged in by the children and careless feet.

How many things to annoy and provoke
Came up to prove housecleaning was no joke.
Yet Mother worked and sang her way
Through it all on housecleaning day.
Right well do I remember how
Housecleaning came then as it cometh now.
And then as now shall I blush to tell
On whose frail shoulders the burden fell.

I helped a little, mayhap (with a frown),
But greatly wondered why Pa went to town.
Oh how easy nowadays to keep things clean,
Electric sweep and fan and screen.
Touch the button and call around you
Comforts your grandmother never knew.
Rejoice and be glad as daily you say,
"Oh, it's grand to be living today."

BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Throughout the west today, April 29, the Boy Scouts started their Liberty Loan drive. The Scouts have been designated as the "moppers up" who follow the "shock troops"—represented by the regular Liberty Loan Committees—and clean up the prospects and the territories which their elders failed to "sell." This is the real Boy Scout drive, the Scouts having been instructed not to interfere with the general campaign. Elaborate preparations have been made so that few will be the people able to buy bonds who escape the drive of these young Americans.

TRENCH CANDLES TABOO

Women's magazines and Sunday supplements, says The Forecast (New York, March), have been urging the wholesale making of candles to be burned in the trenches abroad. The materials were closely rolled strips of newspaper that were afterward soaked in melted tallow or paraffin. It goes on:

"Thousands of these candles have been made, absorbing in their construction many ounces of valuable fats, and now comes a request from the American Red Cross that the following announcement be given if possible as widespread publicity as was the item which set fingers working on something that proves to be impracticable because of present conditions: Trench-candles, or ration-heaters, can not be sent to Europe. This decision is based on a cablegram from Major Murphy, reported the results of investigation in France. They are doubtless useful in the trenches and can be made to advantage by women and children in Europe, but not here, three thousand miles from the front. The cargo space at the disposal of the Red Cross is so limited that only the absolutely essential supplies—surgical dressings, food, warm clothing—can be shipped. Knowledge of this situation must be given wide publicity, since magazines and movies are still urging the production of these articles. Supplies already on hand may be distributed by Red Cross chapters for local use through the charitable organizations."
